Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy of Fibrefusion

At Fibrefusion, we are committed to upholding the highest ethical standards and respecting human rights. We recognise the devastating impact of modern slavery and human trafficking on individuals, families, communities, and society as a whole. We condemn any form of exploitation, forced labour, or human trafficking and are committed to preventing these abuses in our operations and supply chains.

Our commitment to preventing modern slavery and human trafficking is reflected in our policies, procedures, and practices. We expect our employees, suppliers, and business partners to share this commitment and to comply with all relevant laws and regulations.

Specifically, we will:

Conduct due diligence on all new suppliers and business partners to assess their compliance with modern slavery laws and regulations.

Provide training to our employees and suppliers on identifying and preventing modern slavery and human trafficking.

Suppliers and business partners must comply with our modern slavery policy and relevant laws and regulations.

Investigate any reports or suspicions of modern slavery or human trafficking in our operations or supply chains.

Take appropriate actions, including terminating relationships with suppliers and business partners, if they violate our modern slavery policy or laws and regulations.

Fibrefusion will regularly review and update this policy to ensure its effectiveness and compliance with relevant laws and regulations. This policy applies to all employees, suppliers, and business partners of Fibrefusion.

Signed,

Paul Browning
